

Susan Rollwagen
Pepperbox Solutions

For over 20 years, Susan served corporations as an internal Organization Development consultant. Her work to align people and processes with their performance results bridged partnerships between her HR colleagues and internal business leaders in sales, operations & finance. Through Pepperbox Solutions she continues these efforts to help people work together in mid-sized businesses and international initiatives.

She learned that no one works harder and juggles more diverse challenges than her Human Resource pals. In teams that put a high priority on building trust with business partners, Susan found HR professionals who gained more buy-in and could offer greater benefit to employees, to the organization, and to the sanity of their colleagues.
